Save One-Half Your Subscription Expense By Securing These Three Great Magazines

In order to meet the demand on the part of our subscribers for a clubbing combination of farm magazines that adequately cover the needs of this locality, we have made exclusive arrangements whereby we are able to offer these three publications to our patrons without extra charge.

Therefore, to every one who subscribes or renews their subscription now, we will include these publications at a very small cost above the regular subscription price of our paper.

We pride ourselves in being so fortunate as to secure such an excellent combination of magazines to club with our paper, and we hope all our subscribers will make it a point to take advantage of this liberal offer. New subscribers as well as our old subscribers are given the privilege to include this combination in their order.

THE FRUIT-GROWER AND FARMER, "The National Farm Magazine," is the leading exponent of the great cause of horticulture and agriculture. In every issue it contains articles of the most practical nature. No expense is spared, no opportunity overlooked, to get the most reliable, instructive articles about horticulture and general farming that have ever appeared in any agricultural publication. The price is one dollar a year and it is worth it.

KIMBALL'S DAIRY FARMER is the most popular and practical of all dairy publications. Its entire theme is for assisting "The Man With the Cows." It tells of plans which are the most effective for the dairyman. It is worth studying by any man who has dairy products to market. It is read by thousands of successful dairy farmers everywhere. It sells for 50 cents a year.

POULTRY CULTURE—A monthly poultry publication devoted to breeding of high-class poultry. It is thoroughly practical and provides a great help to poultrymen, whether they breed many or only a few fowls. Every issue it gives ideas of new plans which are money-makers for the poultryman. You should read every issue of Poultry Culture. It would cost you 50 cents a year alone.

ABOUT OUR PAPER

It is needless for us to tell you what our paper is, and what it is doing. But as a reminder, we will tell of some of the "old stand-by features" it possesses, for it is the live wire of this section. It gives you all the late news and happenings for miles around this locality, county news, court news, legal news—in fact, every item of importance is given in each issue. It is the local home paper. Every member of the family should read it.

THIS TOWN MOURNS SOLDIER

Zaitcher, Serbia, Pays Appropriate Honor to the Only Man It Had Killed in War.

The Serbian town of Zaitchar has been rehabilitated in the eyes of all Serbia through the magnificent funeral of Reserve Corp. Simon Georgievitch, town clerk, slain at Monastir.

Although Zaitchar had done its duty in sending two-third of its male population to the war, fate decreed that most of them returned safe and sound and the rest with but slight bullet wounds.

Zaitchar had neither cripple nor corpse as the result of its valor, and this led to invidious comments from the inhabitants of other villages who had suffered severe losses in life and limb.

The death of Corp. Simon, who fell at Monastir, saved the reputation of his native place, and all Zaitchar turned out to do honor to his memory when the body was brought back.

Every man, woman and child wore some black token, public "keening," a custom fallen into disuse, was revived, the church bell was rung as for the death of a bishop and finally a collection was made beside the open grave for the erection of a monument.

SEALSKINS BRING BIG PRICES

Sold at Recent London Auction, the Aggregate Amount Paid for Them Totaled Small Fortune.

A consignment of 3,764 skins of Alaskan seals sent by the United States government to the great annual fur sale in London, were disposed of for an aggregate of $144,725, being an average of 153 shillings and ninepence a skin, which is 11 shillings a pelt higher than last year.

George M. Bowers, representing the United States fisheries board, explained that the increase was due to the fact that the skins were a little larger than in the previous year.

Buyers at the present sale came from all parts of the world, for London is recognized as the greatest fur market in the world. As evidence of the magnitude of the sale, it need only be mentioned that the auctioneer's commission alone totaled more than $100,000.

Mr. Bowers said that the yield of the Alaskan fisheries was smaller than usual because of the law passed by the United States congress prohibiting the killing of male seals under three years old. This, he added, has proved a useless measure, because it means no better yield, and the exemption of the young male seals resulted in a loss of valuable pelts.

THE MEASURE OF SUCCESS.

He has achieved success who has lived well, laughed often and loved much; who has gained the respect of intelligent men and the love of little children; who has filled his niche and accomplished his task; who has left the world better than he found it, whether by an improved poppy, a perfect poem or a rescued soul; who has never lacked appreciation of earth's beauty or failed to express it; who has always looked for the best in others and given the best he had; whose life was an inspiration; whose memory a benediction.—Stanley.
